

Accessibility Statement

Our commitment to accessible travel information and digital service

Effective date: 29 September 2026

1. Commitment

See The World Travel aims to make its website and client-facing digital services usable by people with different visual, auditory, physical, speech, cognitive and neurological needs.

2. Technical target

WCAG 2.2 Level AA is the website's accessibility target. This is a design and testing target, not a claim of full conformance until the deployed website has been tested against all applicable success criteria.

3. Measures applied

Semantic heading structure, descriptive labels, keyboard-operable controls, visible focus states, sufficient text contrast, responsive layouts, touch-target sizing, meaningful alternative text, reduced-motion consideration, consistent navigation and accessible error/status messaging are part of the implementation baseline.

4. Documents and third-party services

See The World Travel aims to publish accessible PDFs and web versions of important legal and traveller resources. Third-party airline, hotel, payment or supplier platforms may have different accessibility capabilities outside our direct control.

5. Accessibility assistance

If a traveller cannot complete a task because of an accessibility barrier, See The World Travel will seek a reasonable alternative channel or format where practical.

6. Feedback

Accessibility feedback may be submitted through the website contact channel. Please identify the page, task, device/browser and assistive technology involved where possible.

7. Review

Accessibility should be re-tested after material design, content, authentication or portal changes. See The World Travel will treat accessibility defects as product-quality issues rather than cosmetic issues.
